Who's to say what's right is right
When wrong has gone it's way home, stay slow
Someone speaking out in lies
But their lines are truthful for the used full and

Oh no, here it comes again, Walking back my way
Turning down the smiles on my face
And takes me out of place, Makes me stay away
Turns the light to shadows till the sun returns
Who's to say what's right is right

When does life become real life
Can it be relayed to you by the fool
No names taking their own place
But their space has swallowed all the real gold and

Oh no, here it comes again, Giving back my fears
Turning up the frowns on my face
And puts me in my place, Gives my years some tears
Makes the shadows turn white till the moon returns

Who's to say what's right is right
When all along it's gone wrong, how long
Does it take to get what's real
When there's no-one to blame someone and

Oh no, here it comes again, taking back the space
That it's played to grab and replace
The phrases said in haste
That made the sandman show his face again
Who's to say what's right is right
Who's to say what's right is right
Who's to say what's right is right

PATTERSON BEACH - 1991

Moon shine down on a broken sea
And show me what she needs to see
For me to fall all over again

I pray for the stars to smile down
And show me what I must do now
To fall all over again

There must be a sign set out for me that I can't see
It must be disguised by your beautiful eyes

The shells that sparkle in the sand
Must yell and tell this woman that this man
Has fallen all over again

The wind that riding the surf in my have been angry with me
For it sees that I'm a little too shy for my own good

There will come a day when all my beach will be washed away
But the dreams will remain and the times we shared
Will be ingrained in my brain until that day
That I can finally say I'm over

THREE - 1992

And Jennifer ends
With her own views of the world
Let's everyone in
To tell her how wrong she's been

Feelings strong came and gone with her goodbyes
Relations changed and rearranged

Lost and gained with my love
And I believe I'm a better man now

And Heather begins
With her own views of the world
Let's no one in
To see just how she sets up her mind

And I recall how it all made me feel
And now I see that she's not me
There comes a time for standing for yourself

And I believe the key to this world is
To love and to love from the ones that hurt the most

And with that you'll find inner peace
To pull you through anything

And Shelly starts
Playing games with my heart
She doesn't know what she's doing
When she's talking to me she's starting something

When did it start to be so trying on me
Seems that we would be free
After three I'm back where I began
But I believe I've a better man now

EVERYTHING HAS IT'S CHANGE - 1992

I'm awfully glad it's raining outside my window today
Even though I don't like being trapped in
Sometimes it's best to be this way

And I don't mind
The rainy weather washing away all of my plans
No I don't mind
That's just the way it has to be because

I love it right before it rains
Cause you know that everything has it's change
I love it right before it rains
But you won't hear me complain

When it comes time to rain

I'm awfully glad it's raining outside my window today
Even though I don't like being trapped in
Sometimes it's best to be this way

And I don't mind
The rainy weather washing away all of my plans
No I don't mind
That's just the way it has to be because

I love it right before it rains
The feeling that I get overarms my very soul
I love it right before it rains
But you won't hear me complain
When it comes time to rain

I FEEL THE THUNDER - 1990

His heart has broken silence
Everyone needs quiet sometimes
At this they turn around and look him down
To weakness but he's learned to close his eyes

Even while the streams roll down his cheek from her cheek
Regret is something he can not find
Just to end it all won't end it all
Escaping can't be found right

Now her heart has broken open
Never to heal again, at least not now
At this they pull and push to pull her back
From weakness but she's learned to close her eyes

Even while the streams roll down his cheek from her cheek
Regret is something he can not find
Just to end it all won't end it all
Escaping can't be found right now

Tides have turned back time
Reached beneath the safe moon light
In turn mine
Creations have turned away
Inward toward the heart
And after pain

BIG 6 - 1988

I want you to be my moon ray shining
Over a hearted sea while gently floating

I know you say
You want a different man each different day
But if you'll let me I will carry you away

I want you to be my sunshine flower
Self perceptions linger daisy
But you're always a rose to me

I know you say
You want a different man each different day
But if you'll let me I will carry you away

If we were together my life would shine
When were together my light can reach new heights
Together my, together my life would shine

I want you to be my sunset fading
Down beneath a lasting sea
You are the soul of my melody

I know you say
You want a different man each different day
But if you'll let me I will carry you away

If we were together my life would shine
When were together my light can reach new heights
Together my, together my life would shine

WATERFELL - 1988

In my grandest dream I hear your name
Taking me to a world of love and harmony
I can see you all dressed up in red
Though it's my worst color you bring life to it

I fell into the water, fell into the water
Couldn't drown I couldn't close my eyes
Fell into the water, fell into the water
I only hope you will fall to-

-gether you put a smile back in my soul
I want you to know that I
Realize what's happening to me
And I hope you know I love it
Walking over sands just to be as one
Waiting endlessly to passionately touch

Then I fell into the water, fell into the water
Couldn't drown I couldn't close my eyes
Fell into the water, fell into the water
I only hope you will fall to

In a dark room without a view
Listening to love break down realities

Pictures of hearts and roses fill the t
Tears burning down cheeks
While purring is all you hear from your last friend

When I am sitting in my book room (Candles burn)
I want you to be (Candles burn out)
When I am sitting in my living room
(Don't even bother to light them up again)
I want you be hear me
When I am sitting in my band room
(Phones ring until you're ready)
I want you to hear me singing
When I am laying in my bedroom
(Then silence fills the void)
I want you to hear me singing to you

That I fell into the water, fell into the water
Couldn't drown I couldn't close my eyes
Fell into the water, fell into the water
I only hope you will fall to

EVENING IN SPAIN - 1994 (Pretty Girls 1994)

An evening in Spain spent
With the one I want to spend life with
Counting bye bye minutes

Only waiting to watch you smile

Let love not play with emotions but come strong
With the faith of the spirit let my breath be taken quick
Without the strength of your mind, you're mine

My God in heaven grant me eternity
With thee, let my eyes see the beauty
Though my heart is diluted by the purity
I am blind

Let love not play with emotions but come strong
With the faith of the spirit let my breath be taken quick
Without the strength of your mind, you're mine

On this night let stars shine bright
Light show the way to freedom true passage for two
For my lips taste as sour, ears only hear clatter
If my soul forever is parted from you

That evening in Spain spent
With the one I want to spend life with
Come so easy to me, One look from you made me see
You are my destiny

Let love not play with emotions but come strong
With the faith of the spirit let my breath be taken quick
Without the strength of your mind, you're mine

You're mine, you're mine
So let time retard

MY TRIP - 1994

I talk of my feelings
On my stand by the bed I see a picture
Of a dried and tattered you

I talk of my tear drops
Falling down from my cheek making puddles
On the floor by the phone

Then I trip around the world

Then I travel round the world
Then I search around the world
Looking for a fresh rose

Gone of the old love shadowing
The breaths I take, moves I make Vows I break and lines I hate

Never getting the new love
All it takes is a smile from a beauty
To make me put it down

Then I trip around the world
Then I travel round the world
Then I search around the world
Looking for a fresh rose

Then I trip around the world
Then I visualize the world
Colors over fill the world
Looking for a fresh rose

EVERYTHING COMES ENDING - 1991

Everything comes ending
No one last forever
Even when one comes along
No pressure, just enough commitment
Gone before the ride has a chance to fully stop and drop off

Searching find a new
New finds a love
Love ends the inning
Everything comes ending

Everything comes ending without a clue for you
With a vision ending takes hold and destroys you
Is it better to fall down, to fall down alone and cry
Is it better to let loneliness take hold of you

Searching find a new
New finds a love
Love ends the inning

Everything comes ending

My fears have fallen down
While pillows fall to the ground
And my tears have fallen down, fallen down
My fears have fallen down, down, down, down to the ground
While my pillows fall down, fall down

HEATHER - 1991

Swirl all the wispy whites in front of
The darkened shadow of life
Giving of images of light
On dark and brightened grey

Knowledge of faith, know how to run
Temped by pain, let it all come

Waiting exclusively for the elusive
Friend to child and enemy of man
That waits along with thee
In front of golden heather and hay

Rays of God's love burns the dawn up
Giving a view of me and you

Knowledge of faith, know how to run
Tempted by pain, let it all come

There's not a day, yellow, grey or blue
That slips away and I don't think of you
